CLARK SCORED THE REPUBLICANS HARD.

Said Their Charge of Democrats Otto Miller and Mrs. Barcker, After Looting School Fund Was an Idiotic Lie.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

esburg, Mo., Oct. 22.-Champ Clark poke to a crowded house to-night on State and national issues and was frequently interrupted with applause. He hit the Republican slanderers of Missouri some hard licks. He said that of all the idiotic lies he ever heard the greatest one was to the effect that the Democrats had looted the public school fund; that the truth was that the Democrats found this fund amounting to $300,000, and increased it to $4,500,000; that they found it bearing 35 per cent, and had so invested it that it is now bearing 5 and 6 per cent; that it is now the greatest per capita school fund of any State in the Union; that so far as being enemies to the ablic school system the Democrats are the best friends it ever had; that the titution requires the Legislature to traveled all over the United States and most of Europe, and had accumulated a handsome fortuna. Some time after the separation of Mr. and Mrs. Barcker he heard the story of his former friend's troubles and it impressed him. Not long afterwards he wrote to her.

After that the course was clear, and seen the friendship of former years had developed into ardent leve. Mr. Miller visited St. Louis frequently and always called at the home of Mrs. Barcker, who was living with her mother, Mrs. Mary Collins, at No. 365 North Thirteenth street.

Few of either Mr. Miller's or Mrs. Barcker's friends knew of the closeness of their friendship, and fewer still know they were married yesterday. They went about it very quietly. Mrs. Barcker told her mother and sister a few days ago that Mr. Miller was to be here Saturday, and that they would probably be married Monday. Mr. Miller arrived Saturday evening. Yesterday morning he and Mrs. Barcker left Mrs. Collins's house, saying they were to be quietly married. Later in the day they returned, saying they had been married. Who performed the ceremony is a matter that the family did not ask about.

There was a little wedding supper, and then the newly married counts and the appropriate one-fourth of the general revenue for school purposes, but asven successive Democratic Legislatures had appropriated one-third of the general revenue for school purposes-that is, they appropriated one-twelfth more of the general revenue for this purpose than is re-quired by the constitution; that in addition to this they have increased the support of the Normal School and have augmented the endowment of the State University by nearly $1,000,000; that they have paid nearly twenty millions of the debt saddled on the State by the Republicans, and, while doing this, have performed the miracle in finance of cutting down the tax rate by two-thirds of what it was under Republican rule; that of what it was under Republican rule; that the Democratic administration of affairs in Missouri has been the most successful and economic in the entire history of the human economic in the entire history of the human race; that a man who cannot defend the financial history of the Democratic party in Missouri is a natural-born fool; that while he was neither the spiritual nor legal adviser of liars in general, his advice to them was to tell lies that are reasonable and that somebody will believe and not such monstrous ones as that the Democratic party had looted the school funds of Missouri.

H. W. Johnson and J. F. Bail spoke at Price's Branch this afternoon to a good crowd. Senator Johnson spoke principally on State issues and eulogized the Democratic candidate for Governor and made some strong points in favor of retaining the Democratic party in power in the State. the family did not ask about.

There was a little wedding supper, and then the newly married couple and the bride's children took a train for their tour of the Coast. It is probable that they will also visit Europe before they settle down. Mr. Miller claims St. James, Mo., as his residence, but is connected with a paint and oil house in the East.

CUBA'S IMPROVED CONDITION.

General Wood's Annual Report

Contains Interesting Statements.

Washington, Oct. 22.-"The condition of the people of the island, to the best of my knowledge and beilef, is one of content and knowledge and belief, is one of content and they realize that wonderful progress has been made and they feel, as a people, kindly toward the people of the United States and have faith in them."

This statement is made by Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the Livision of Cuba, in an extract of his annual civil report relative to the administration of the island of Cuba, made public by the War Department to-day.

General Wood's report is a statement showing what a remarkable advance has been made by Cuba during the past year. Hospitals have been established in every important town; asylums have been provided for orphan children; 3,000 schools have been established; 3,000 schools have were not more than 30,000 children attending schools.

In adottion, the sanitation of the towns and cities has been immeasurably improved; and there are indication of the sanitation of the sanitation and the antispation of the sanitation of th attending schools.

In addition, the sanitation of the towns and cities has been immeasurably improved, and, as an indication of the satisfactory conditions existing, General Wood calls attention to the fact that the two southern Provinces for the first time are free from yellow fever, and in general there has been a great improvement in health throughout the Island.

He believes that he is great improvement in health throughout the island.

He believes that in a few years yellow fever can be gotten under the same control as now exists in Jamaioa. Seven hundred miles of railroad have been constructed, bridges have been rebuilt, streets paved and millions of dollars have been speat on public works, yet there is a surplus of $1,-60,000 in the Cuban Treasury.

General Wood makes a special point of the fact that hunger in the Island is now unknown. He says no disorders marked either the municipal election or the constitutional election, and speaking to-day he said be has no reason to believe that any attempt would be made to induce the Constitutional Convention to adopt a resolution demanding the withdrawal of the United States from the Island.

CAMPAIGN OPENED IN COOK COUNTY

Alsehuler Greeted by an Enormons Crowd in a Republican Ward.

ANSWERED DEFICIT CHARGE.

He Showed That the Republican Legislature Was Responsible for the State's Embarrassment -Summary of Situation.

Chicago, Oct 22-Invigorated and thoroughly rested, Samuel Alachuler opened his campaign in Cook County to-night by an ormous meeting in the strongly Republic-continuous meeting in the strongly Republican Fourth Ward at Douglas Hall.

Democratic State headquarters were filled to-day with delegates from Platt, Champaign, McHenry, Dupage, Kane and Stephenson counties, who tried every cajolery to obtain a date from Mr. Alsehuler.

His dates however are all filled to obtain a date from Mr. Alsebuler.

His dates however, are all filled.

Douglas Hall was packed with people when Representative Robert Reaffeld introduced the candidate for Governor. The cheers and applause lasted until the erator of the evening held up his hands for quiet.

"Samuel Alsebuler," said Mr. Redfield, did more in the Legislature for the people of Illinois and for the city of Chicago than any ten members of the two General Assemblies of which he was a member." After a modest acknowledgement of the enthusiastic recention, Mr. Alsebuler said he was duly appreciative and humbly conscious of the high humor conferred on him by the great Democratic party. He was conscious of the great Democratic party. He was conscious of the grave responsibilities and duties that would devolve upon him should he be so fortunate as to win the good will of a majority of the people of the State.

"These responsibilities," he said, "challenge the best effort and brain of the best men in the land, and I can only say, as a citizen having the best interests of the whole people at heart, that chould those whole people at heart, that chould those whole people at heart, that should those grave responsibilities be placed on my other aspirant for the office, or that I will make a better servant than any other manthat is a question for the voters of the Siate to determine. There are a few things I would like to talk about on State manters, because the enemy is parading up and down the State trying to lead the people astray with statements only half true."

Mr. Alsenuler then explained the deficits under Governor Aliged, the true reason for which was charged to the kepublican Legislature of 180.

He also addressed a magnificent meeting at Hoerber's Itali on Blue Island avenue.

Cook County is a sort of pandora's box as regards politics. Neither Democrats nor Republicans have been able to obtain a key that will unlock the secrets of the voters' minds. Democrats claim the county by 50,000 to 20,000, and confess that they are basing their claims and hopes on what a certain 40 per cent of the total vote will do on the day of election.

"Our precinct workers, who have made polls of the city," said a well-known Democratic leader to me to-day, "have been unable to get an expression from the electors in strong laboring wards, and also in strong German clasticis. The voters, it appears, left word with their wives when they went to work, to answer all queries regarding the politics of their husbands, with the statement that they didn't know how they would vote." We reason that these people almost to a man will vote the Democratic toket. Remembering the coercive tactics of the Republican boxses four years ago on their employes, I think it a fair presumption. Here are 180,000 voters marked doubtful on our poli lists, and they can swing Cook County either way by a tremendous majority.

Nor are the Republicans in any better position to make claims, They make a biuff that they will come to Cook County with as large a majority as he had four years ago, to-wit: Seventy thousand, says Chairman Rowe, "and Cook County will add to it."

Democratic Prospects Bright.

Republicans probably have a better poil of the city than the Democrats, for they fix the number of doubtful voters at about 25 per cent, or 160,000. Evidently they derive small consolation from their figures, or they would claim a few thousand majority, just for appearance sake. On the whole the Democrats have the best of the signs. There small consolation from their figures, or they would claim a few thousand majority, just for appearance saks. On the signs There isn't much interest on the surface in the result. Hardly one man out of 200 you meet on the surface in the result. Hardly one man out of 200 you meet on the surface in the result. Hardly one man out of 200 you meet on the surface in the result. Hardly one man out of 200 you meet on the surface in the result. Hardly one man out of 200 you meet on the surface of McKinley. Few residences and business-houses have lithographs of the presidential or gubormatorial candidates. The saloons are plastered with them, and seem to be about equally divided as between Yates and Aschuler. In the German districts Aischuler leads Yates in all branches of business by at least two to one.

The Republicans are concentrating their efforts to save Congressman Lorimer from defeat, and there is some grumbling among the county and legislative candidates on this account. Mr. Locimer runs a tent show, vanideville attachments, with a circus band and all that. He holds the people in this way to the end of his discourses, promising a grand free concert after the regular performance. Democrats express the greatest confidence that Lorimer and Boutell will be defeated. They claim that the Cook County Congressional delegation will stand five Damocrats to two Republicans I am strongly of the opinion that the Democratic claims of 40,000 majority or more for Alschuler in Cook County will be realized. This would carry the State by a handsome margin, for the rural districts cannot muster rajorities for Yates that will exceed 5,000, and maybe not that much. On the whole, the chances for the Democrats electing Aischuler are brightening every day.

As an illustration of Republican methods a riotous scene in the lumber district was fournished last Saturday, when the forsmen of all the gangs marshaled the laborar together, and marched them to a tand where a Republican spellbinder was shouting prosperity and the full dinner pail. O

BEVERIDGE'S WORD-PICTURES. Paints the "Glories" of Imperialism REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 22.-Senator Beveridge of Indiana addressed a mass meeting of Republicans in this city to-night. His speech, which was styled an address to the people of the South, was an appeal for Southern support of the administration's policy in the Philippines. He said, in part: "This nation has entered upon a new ca-

"This nation has entered upon a new career of prosperity and glory so luminous that the most during mind snrinks from its prophecy. Why should the South not share in that career? Why should the South not be part of that destiny-determined policy of advance? When the American people are pianting the American flag over those points from which in the future the American Republic will be the world's first Power on the oceana, not in boasting, but in practical and definite reality, way should the South shrink back into likelf when the sons of the South on the decks of the Re-

practical and definite reality, why should the South shrink back into itself when the sons of the South on the decks of the Republic's ships and in the ranks of the Republic's ships and in the ranks of the Republic's armies are helping to achieve this mighty and musterful destiny?

"Why should the South indorse a policy of American retreat, you sons and daughters of a heroic race, you children whose forefathers hurled back the crimson line at New Orleans, whose forefathers kept the flag in the sky of Florida, Louislana and Texas—why should you now join with those who would tear that flag from its place of power in the heavens of the East?

"You sons and daughters."

"You sons and daughters who inherit the blood of those who followed the imperial Jackson—you men and women of an imperial race—will you permit the insuit that you fear that imperialism which consists of the advancing empire of the American flag and the spreading sway of the American Republic?

"Aye, you sons and daughters the South, who railied around your separate banner and proved the militant quality of your blood on a hundred battlefield, how diare you own that you are your father's children if you confess to a fear of that very quality which made your father heroes? Surely you do not fear us of the North, you sons and daughters of the North, No, no we love you. And we ask your affection in return. The watchword of our common destiny is love—not hate—between the North, the South, the East and the Weat."

Mrs. Vandergrift now recalls that Miller was of the same stature as her husband, and in many respects was like him, but her husband had gray hair and a turned-up nose. The man giving the name of Miller had an aquilline nose and brown hair. He would not eat at the same table with her, but kept close to his room. A week after Miller's arrival Mrs. Vandergrift's child suddealy disappeared, and since then Miller has not been seen. The police took up the case and discovered the child at Coffeyville, Kas, with the parents of Vandergrift. A search of Miller's room revealed a piece of torn envelope, with H. J. Vandergrift on it. In another paper found there was a reference to facial surgery, and the writer remarked upon the success with which a certain operation had been performed upon the man to whom the letter was evidently written. Mrs. Vandergrift insists that Miller and her husband are identical and that facial surgery supplied him with the new countenance that fooled her. JEWELRY

tiful supply of whisky in his stomach, Charles Murray recently rode into Sunol. He increased the supply of blood in his eye and whisky in his stomach and decreased the number of cartridges in his revolver while he took possession of the town for about an hour.

Murray came from somewhere out of the darkness in the canyon over near Pleasanton. As Strod is a very quiet little town Murray's presence was soon noticed, for a fusiliade of shots from a revolver does not occur there every night in the week. When the shots attracted the attention of the good people of Sunol and they peered cautiously out into the night they beheld Murray charging up and down the main street shooting as he went.

This was not exciting enough, so Murray did the usual thing in such cases made and provided. He role his horse into the saloon owned and operated by a man named Ager. Murray wanted more whisky and when it did not come fast enough he shot a few bottles to pieces with his revolver. This accelerated the movements of the barkeeper and Murray added still more to his overplus of whisky and blood.

During these antics Murray's horse was charging around the saloon and a large oil lamp was overturned. In a moment the room was in a blaze, and Murray rode his horse out into the back yard. Here he found himself inclosed with a high board fence on three sides with no hope of escape and the burning saloon on the charged through the fire and down the road up which he had come.
